Kentler International Drawing Space is pleased to present Mapping Spaces: Carte Blanche, Selections from the Kentler Flatfiles, curated by Dita Amory, Acting Associate Curator in Charge of the Robert Lehman Collection at The Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Featuring 26 works by 25 artists, Mapping Spaces: Carte Blanche explores the artist's ability to create and define space on a two-dimensional plane. Guided by the theme of cartography, Amory draws connections between line and path, shape and mass, and color and density to suggest drawing's intrinsic relationship to navigation. Qualities of geometry, rhythm, light, and gravity observed in the works bring drawings and prints of various styles and techniques together in this illuminating exhibition.

The Kentler Flatfiles, a collection of 2,000 works on paper by over 240 artists, has been an essential element of the gallery since its founding in 1990. The Flatfiles are regularly featured in guest-curated exhibitions as well as traveling shows, and are an important resource for artists, curators, scholars, collectors, and all those interested in the field of drawing. They are available to the public for viewing by appointment.

A brochure with an essay by the curator accompanies the exhibition.

This exhibition is made possible in part by a grant from the Robert Lehman Foundation. We thank them for their generous support for the arts.
